Throughout the implementation of the program, the coordinating authorities shall make sure to involve the donors and civil society, in particular in the National Network for Rural Development and Local Action Groups (LAGs).

3.6.4. Implementation

Projects funded under the 100 Villages Programs will be implemented mainly by municipalities, as well as other public agencies (Regional Development Agencies 1, 2, 3 and 4, Agency for Regional Economic Development, National Tourism Agency, ADF, MADA etc.).

The program will also support projects proposed by civil society organizations (NGOs), individuals, farmers, legal entities, etc., in accordance with the legislation in force.

3.6.5. Funding the Program

In the allocation of investment funds, allocated from the respective budgets of the ministries or their subordinate institutions, the ministries participating in the program will aim to give priority to the projects identified and implemented in the designated area of 100 villages.

Projects identified within the 100 Villages Program may be funded by the Regional Development Fund, according to the criteria and rules established by the Committee for Regional Development.

The program may be funded from any other legitimate source or through mechanisms of public-private partnership.

3.6.6. Beneficiaries

Beneficiaries of the 100 Villages Program are rural population, farmers and farmers groups, individuals, in particular women and young people, legal persons, municipalities, non-profit organizations, agricultural cooperation associations, etc.

3.6.7. Strategic Projects

Within the 100 Villages Program, 3 strategic projects are identified which will be implemented with high priority:

i) Establishing the Albanian Agrotourism Network

Agrotourism and rural tourism are activities that represent a high development potential for rural areas in Albania and already in many villages of Albania have started to operate and provide services in agrotourism and have achieved in a very short time, very good economic and social results (Thethi, Voskopoja, Dardha, etc.).

Within the 100 Villages Program financial and fiscal instruments shall be provided to support the establishment of a network of agro-tourism farms that meet the defined criteria and standards, which will constitute the baseline for the Albanian agro-tourism network. Support to create a critical mass of the number of agrotourism enterprises in Albania will serve to increase employment in rural areas, create a unique destination and “brand” of agrotourism in Albania, in addition to other tourism offers, as well as to preserve the cultural heritage and traditional values of the Albanian village.

The program will aim to support around 27 new agrotourism enterprises and 150 guest houses. The support will also aim to improve farms and livestock farms for the purposes of agro-tourism and rural tourism.

ii) Traditional Products Incubators Network

Albania has great and numerous potentials in the production of traditional food products. Traditional Albanian handicrafts products, regardless of their great values and the interest of local and foreign consumers, have shown to have difficulties in penetrating the markets due to low economic growth rates that increase unit production costs, limit production quantities, and high legal requirements for food and sanitary standards. These difficulties, also combined with the little knowledge and small capacities/capitals available to small producers of traditional products, risk that in the medium/long term these products will get scarce and eliminated from the market and the tables of Albanians. In addition to the damage that may be incurred by small producers from rural areas, the biggest damage may be caused to Albanian traditions and cultural heritage.

In this context, the program will aim to create a network of incubators of traditional products, which will be facilities that provide ready-made infrastructure for the whole product value chain, starting from storage/production facilities and equipment, packaging and marketing lines, support for standardization and certification, as well as space for selling the products.

Incubators will provide support to small rural producers, in particular women and young people, who can use the incubator for the production, packaging, marketing, standardization and selling of their products, in exchange for a reduced and affordable fee for the services provided by the incubator.

iii) The network of markets/stores of Albanian and traditional products

Traditional Albanian products have shown that it is difficult for them to penetrate retail markets and stores, for the reasons explained in subparagraph “ii”. In support of the last chain of the value chain (selling), the program will aim to create a network of markets/stores that will be specialised in selling Albanian products, in particular traditional products. This network will have its own brand distinct from other networks and based on a special marketing and franchise strategy, it will be able to create a critical mass of stores that will be able to increase the percentage of sales of Albanian/traditional products. Financial support for the establishment of this network will be provided under the 100 Villages Program.

3.7 Management Authority

For the management of the Integrated Rural Development Program (IRDP) - the 100 Villages Program, the Inter-Ministerial Committee for the 100 Village Program shall be established, composed of the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, Minister of Tourism and Environment, Minister of Infrastructure and Energy, and Minister of Culture.

3.7.1. The Inter-Ministerial Committee for the 100 Villages Program

For the implementation of this program, the Committee shall cooperate in particular with the municipalities and regional development agencies, as well as other public or private partners who are interested in supporting the 100 Villages Program.

Under the Cross-cutting Strategy on Agriculture and Rural Development 2014-2020, the committee, through the program will promote the establishment of local action groups (LAG) and funding of the projects proposed by them.

3.7.2. Technical Secretariat

For a better management of this program, the committee shall be supported by the technical secretariat established with the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, upon the decree of the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development.

The technical secretariat shall perform auxiliary and administrative duties.

The ministries participating in the program shall designate their focal points (high level officials of the ministry), who shall act as a connecting bridge between the technical secretariat and the respective ministries.
